

Contributors

Sergio Alloggio is a philosopher and Post-Doctoral Research Fellow at the Centre for Rhetoric Studies, at the University of Cape Town. His current work mainly focuses on the borders between neosophistry, postmetaphysical philosophy and ethical conflicts. s_alloggio@libero.it

Barbara Cassin, the leading French philosopher of rhetoric is a senior Director of Research at the National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS), Paris and has been Director of prestigious Léon Robin Centre for Research on Ancient Thought, Sorbonne, Paris. Her pioneering work is regarded as a synthesis between the legacy of Heidegger and the “linguistic turn”. barbara.cassin@wanadoo.fr

Nicole Dewandre studied philosophy at the Free University of Brussels (ULB). Until January 2004 she was Head of the Women and Science Unit in the Directorate General for Research at the European Commission, Brussels, where she now heads the Scientific Advice and Governance Unit. nicole.dewandre@ec.europa.eu

Zifikile Gambahaya is an Associate Professor at the University of Zimbabwe and Editor-in-Chief of Zambezia: The Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of Zimbabwe. mgunin@arts.uz.ac.zw

Cheryl Glenn is Liberal Arts Research Professor of English and Women Studies at the Pennsylvania State University, USA. A noted feminist rhetorician, her work includes feminist historiography, the ever-expanding feminist rhetorical project, and the role of women in public diplomacy. cjg6@psu.edu

Ruvimbo Goredema is an MA Graduate of Political Communication with a thesis in Rhetoric Studies from the University of Cape Town. Her research interests include feminism in Africa, especially in the military and transformative justice in South Africa. ruvigore@gmail.com

Gerard A. Hauser is a Professor of communication and College Professor of Distinction at the University of Colorado at Boulder, USA. A leading figure in American deliberative rhetoric, his research focuses on rhetorical theory, dissident rhetoric, and the interaction between formal and vernacular rhetorics in the public sphere. He is Editor of Philosophy & Rhetoric. hauserg@colorado.edu

Jairos Kangira is an Associate Professor at the University of Namibia and founding Editor of Nawa: Journal of Language and Communication, the first academic journal of the Polytechnic of Namibia. jkangira@unam.na

Jens Elmelund Kjeldsen is a Professor of rhetoric and visual communication at the University of Bergen, Norway, and Professor of rhetoric at Södertörn University College, Sweden. He is an advisor to the Norwegian Prime Minister. jens.kjeldsman@infomedia.uib.no

Bridgit Kwinda is a PhD candidate in Rhetoric Studies at the University of Cape Town. Her research interests are in public deliberation, political systems and minority political parties. yngbri003@uct.ac.za

Berit von der Lippe is Associate Professor at the Department of Communication, Culture and Languages at BI Norwegian School of Management, Oslo. A noted author on rhetoric and metaphor, she has written on war rhetoric, economic theories and the mass media, while her more recent work concerns rhetoric, gender and postcolonial theories. berit.v.d.lippe@bi.no.

Pedzisayi Mashiri is an Associate Professor and Dean of the Faculty of Arts at the University of Zimbabwe. mashiri@arts.uz.ac.zw

Themba Ratsibe is an Honours graduate in Rhetoric Studies at the University of Cape Town and is currently pursuing a career in the corporate world. themba10@gmail.com

Philippe-Joseph Salazar is Distinguished Professor of Rhetoric at the University of Cape Town, and sometime Director of research in Rhetoric and Democracy at Jacques Derrida's Collège international de philosophie, Paris. His latest book is L'Hyperpolitique (Paris, 2009). His next book Capitol Rhetoric will be released in 2011 (Bourin, Paris). philippe.salazar@uct.ac.za.